

ABSTRACT

Disclosed is a method for the preparation of a composite material consisting of very fine inclusions of liquid, moderately to strongly hydrophobic active ingredients homogeneously dispersed in a thermoplastic matrix. The interface of the inclusions is fully covered by an emulsifier film.